INFORMATION
THE NATIONAL CONFERENCES ON WILDERNESS MEDICINE

HIGHLIGHTS

- Nation's largest and longest running CME conference on Wilderness, Travel, and Environmental Emergency Medicine, since 1982
- Select conferences broadcasted live on the internet with interactive live Q/A sessions
- Optional hands-on workshops available for on-site conference attendees
- On-demand access to all presentations for 3 months at some meetings

KEY BENEFITS FOR EXHIBITORS

- IMMEDIATE VISIBILITY to put your brand and company directly in front of attendees
- LONGER EXPOSURE with visibility and interaction during the live event plus 3 months following the event when attendees have access on-demand
- EXPANDED MARKET from going virtual which opens the door for a larger audience globally, as attendees no longer need to travel to an onsite location
- OPPORTUNITIES to sponsor a Breakfast Speaker Symposia or Reception

TARGET AUDIENCE

The nation's largest and longest running conference on Wilderness, Travel, and Environmental Emergency Medicine for medical professionals. Between 400-600 physicians, advanced practice providers, nurses, and other health care professionals from across the country come to learn about a wide array of interesting topics such as frostbite, heat illness, hypothermia, mosquito and tick-borne illness, snakebites, and altitude sickness from noted authorities. The conference is highly acclaimed and accredited for category 1 Continuing Medical Education (CME) credits for medical professionals.

THE CONFERENCE COMMUNITY

The attendees at our conference are medical professionals and students that are active and/or interested in outdoor activities, practicing in rural or austere settings, working or traveling in developing countries, and looking to expand their knowledge base in environmental emergency medicine. About 70% of attendees are physicians.
